

IN THE ABSTRACT

Please Replace the Abstract with the following:

--Provided herein is a logic tree branch for steering electromagnetic energy. The logic tree branch structure includes active elements for directing said electromagnetic energy into one of first and second paths. Further, corresponding passive elements are disposed in the second path for directing electromagnetic energy into a path parallel to the first path when the electromagnetic energy is directed into said second path--.